

CERTAIN QVERES,
And the Resolutions of the Trayned-Bonds, and Citizens of LONDON, Presented to the Honourable
House of COMMONS.

Quere 1. WHether it be for our Liberties, to be contrary to our inherit Priviledges, forced forth to this War, begunne and maintained against our Wills.

Que. 2. Whether it be for the benefit of this City, or Propriety of our Estates, to have our Purses Delusiuey Drained, our Servants Destroyed, and our Trading Prohibited.

Que. 3. Whether it be Pious Charity, when through our absolute Necessities, we are inforced to refuse any of the aforesaid things, to have our poore Wives and Children, turned out of your Lines of Communication; and the residue of our poore Estates Sequestred to your Benefit, and the Kingdoms Ruine.

Que. 4. Whether it be not very requilit for your Selves, or the Major part of you, (for whom we are Enforced to goe) to goe along in Person, in this or any other expedition, we conceiving, A Close-Committee of Twenty foure to be sufficient to stay behind to Project, with the help of Master Kilvert.

Que. 5. Whether it be by the Word of GOD, that you impose Contradictive OATH'S, under gentle Termes of Covenants, upon the Consciencs of Men.

All which we desire You Speedily to Answer, or else we shall proceed to this Resolution, Not only to Refuse in modesty, for the preservation of your Crack'd Credit, but Oppose, and Scorne all your Illegall Taxes, and Assumed Commands, We being now sensible, who are the greatest number, Choosing rather to Die like Men, then to Live your Vassalls.

At OXFORD, August the 12th. 1645.
By LEONARD LICHFIELD, according to the Copy
Printed last week at London.